Foreward

The name of the zine is raven, but it's stylized as RAV3N because on Instagram (or was it Tumblr?), the user raven or ravenzine was taken (I think it was Tumblr). Why did I choose raven for the name? Well, I made this zine to focus on teenage creatives in my area, so I wanted to do something cool that I thought represented my area. Raven Rock State Park is in Harnett County, so I thought raven was a pretty cool and unique name. Ravens used to sit on the rock ledges in the park, but now they are nowhere to be found. Ravens are rare in North Carolina. I hope that with this small zine, I can encourage the ravens to come back. And with them, a new environment filled with creativity and passion.

Theme: #1

The theme for the first issue is the number one. One represents countless things. It represents unity, which we hope to create through this zine. It represents creativity, which we hope to foster. It represents freedom, which we hope to uphold. It represents power, which we hope to demonstrate with words and art. It represents initiative.

Creating this first issue was definitely a learning experience for everyone at RAV3N, but what good is doing something if you don't learn something from it?

Just like the number one, different numbers represent different things. The belief that numbers can hold these spiritual meanings is called numerology. You may already be familiar with this idea. Angel Numbers, a branch of numerology, have become extremely popular in the past couple years. Looking through the number one in a numerological view allows for a deeper understanding of this issue and even yourself.

That's right! You too can have your own special number! There are varying methods to find your number, and if you are really interested in numerology, I really encourage you to look into the mystical and ancient practice.

Anyways, here is a quick way to find your "life path number."

1. Write down all the digits of your birthday ex:

11/02/2003

2. And the day and month together $11+02=13$

3. Next add the birthday digits together $2+0+0+3=5$

4. Add these these two numbers together $11+5=16$

5. Lastly add together the digits of the previous sum
 $1+6=7$

The goal is to get to a single digit, that single digit represents what to focus on in your lifetime.

Yours a pair of arms I seek to hide
Mine a pair of ears to which you can confide
Yours a smile I could melt in
Mine a heart to tell your sin

Yours a secret nook to find
Mine a jumper to help in a bind

Yours a seeker to tell what's true
Mine a finder to ale the blue

And the truth sting
like a bruise forming

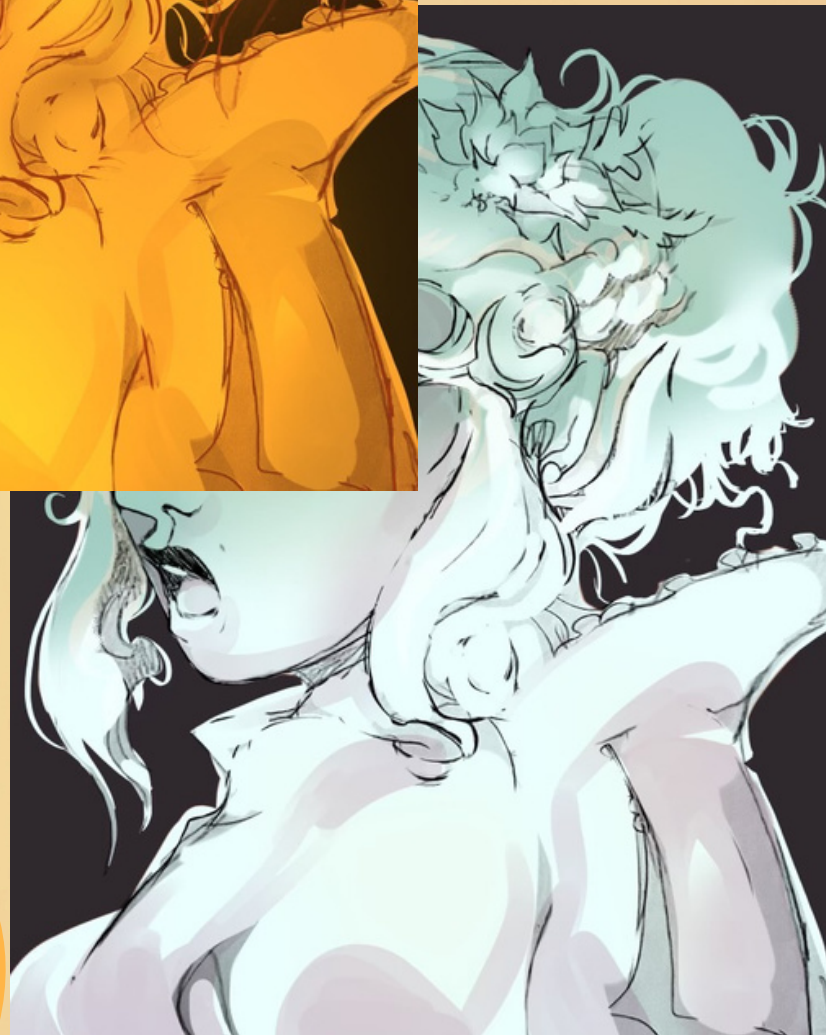

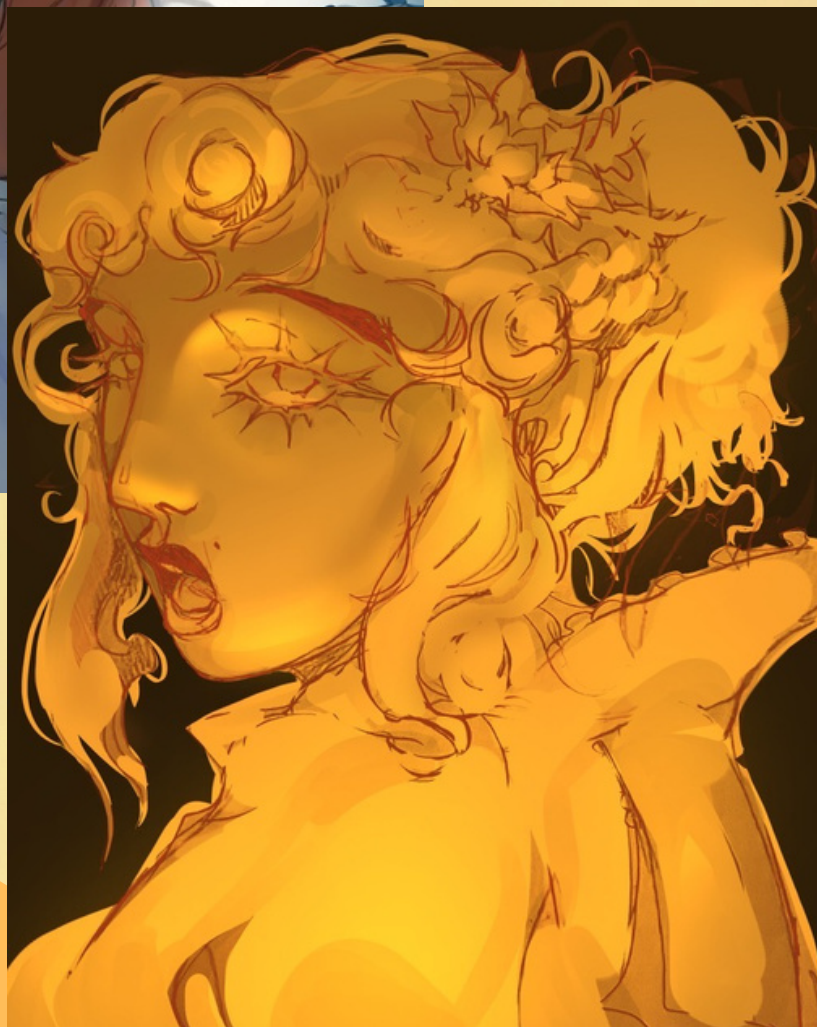

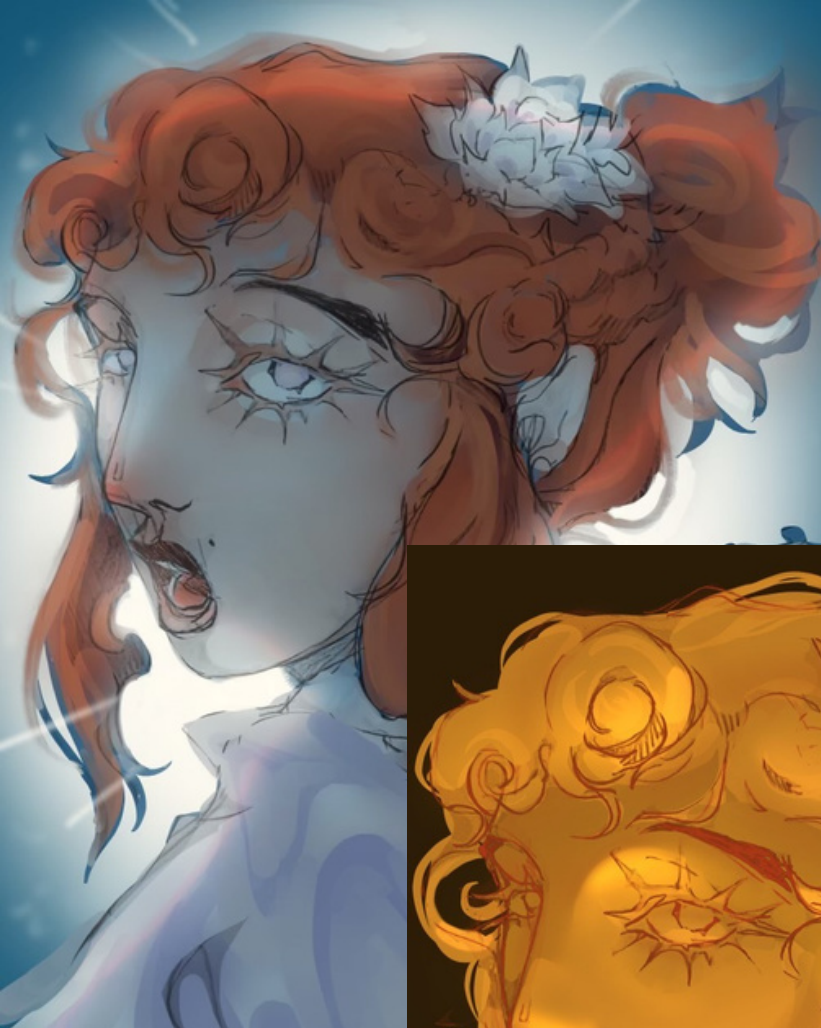

SONG OF THE MONTH

YOUR NIGHT, OUT -FRANK LEONE

Choosing yourself over someone else is never an easy decision to make. "YOUR NIGHT, OUT" is a mellow track that personally represents the freedom in letting go of a situation or relationship with someone that no longer serves any purpose (111). If they're not matching your energy, then what's the point?!
